My name is Stephanie Hall, Owner and Operator of THAT DESIGN CHICK, a successful Web Design and Development firm with an emphasis on Branding and Marketing.

THAT DESIGN CHICK focuses on the needs of the customer in order to help generate business to increase profitability and overall success.

The strength and success of my company lies in the ability to deliver exceptional results at an incredibly low price point coupled with outstanding customer service while providing an end to end solution.

I invest time and energy into building relationships with my customers. I provide solutions to short term needs that lend themselves later to closer reaching the long term goal. Often this would not be possible because of budget constraints.

I price match all my competitors, deliver on deadlines, hold myself accountable to the customer as they are "my boss", without them, I would not be able to do this. Without me, they would not be able to do "THAT".

I appreciate you allowing me to discuss what I do, and I always appreciate business referrals.

With Respect,

Stephanie Hall – Nashville, TN
